WEATHER

Snow Pack Survey, April 1:

The significance of the April 1 survey is that this typically measures the peak of the Sierra snow pack which tells us how much snow melt will help us in the upcoming summer months. Unfortunately, the snow pack remains well below normal. Statewide, it is only about one-third of its average for April 1.

Short Term Forecast:

A weak system will move across Northern California today through Friday with lingering showers into Saturday morning. Much of the precipitation will be over the mountains. Beyond that, a high pressure ridge will strengthen over the West Coast putting us in a dry and warming period next week. Daytime highs will be about 10 degrees above normal. Models are hinting that another system may develop offshore by the end of next week, but the 6-10 day outlook shows below normal indicating that the system may not move inland in the short-term.

WEATHER

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION:

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA AND CENTRAL COASTAL AREAS:

Eureka Weather:

A weak front will continue to bring a few showers to the North Coast this morning. Another weak system will bring some showers to areas north of Trinidad County on Saturday. Sunday into next week, a strong ridge of high pressure will bring warm temperatures and dry conditions to the region.

San Francisco Weather:

Light rain showers will impact the morning commute with scattered showers this afternoon over the hills. High pressure builds overnight into Saturday with a return of dry and mild weather. Strong high pressure builds Sunday through the middle of next week with clear skies and warm afternoon temperatures.

CENTRAL CALIFORNIA AND SOUTHERN SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY

Sacramento Weather:

A weak weather system will move through the Sacramento Valley today and tonight bringing scattered light showers to nearly the entire forecast area. Precipitation amounts are expected to remain quite light with moderate snow levels. Drier and warmer weather is expected for the weekend and on through next week. By early next week, daytime high temperatures are expected to climb to well above season norms.

Hanford Weather:

A weak frontal system is expected to move through today with scattered mountain showers and light precipitation in the Central Valley mostly north of Fresno Friday. High pressure will again build over the area over the weekend and provide for a warming and drying trend.

OF EMERGENCY SERVICES

WEATHER SYNOPSIS BY REGION: (Con't)

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA:

Los Angeles Weather:

A weak frontal system may bring some showers late this morning through this evening; mainly to northern parts of the Los Angeles area with snow showers possible in the mountains. Building high pressure aloft will bring warming to the region this weekend with very warm to hot weather and dry conditions early next week as offshore flow develops. Some cooling is expected to begin Wednesday and continue Thursday.

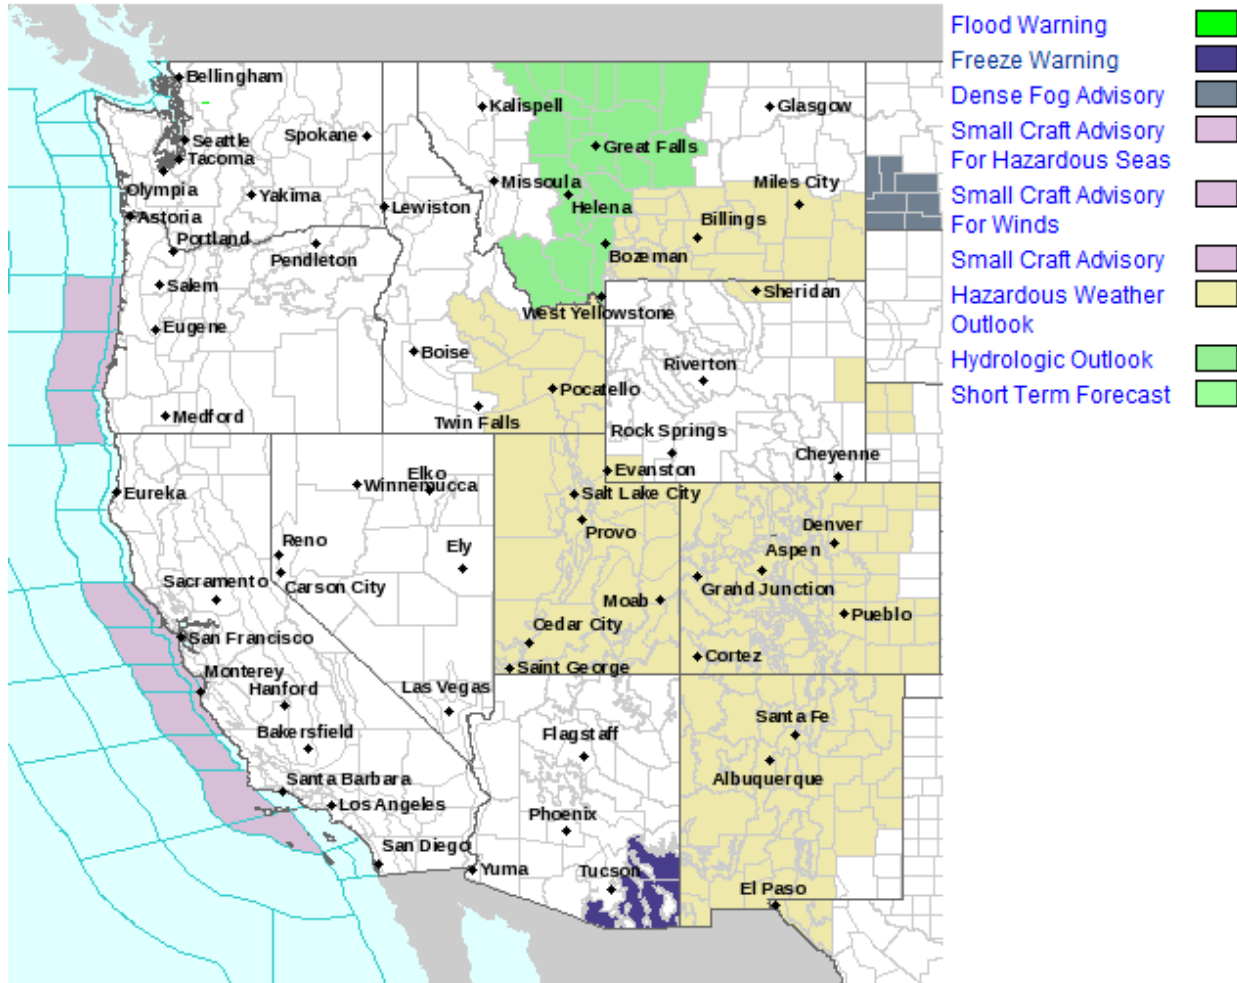

Extreme Southwestern California Including Orange, San Diego, Western Riverside and Southwestern San Bernardino Counties:

A weak trough of low pressure will move through California today bringing some clouds and cooler weather through Saturday. A few light showers are possible over and west of the mountains tonight. A strong ridge of high pressure over the west will bring much warmer weather next week.

Southeast California Weather:

A storm system moving through Southeastern California today and Saturday will bring cloudiness, but only a small chance of showers for parts of Inyo County and the southern Great Basin. Temperatures will rise several degrees today and reach normal Sunday and above normal next week with dry conditions expected under a strong ridge of high pressure.

Situational Summary – Drought 2014

Information as of 4/2/14

On January 17, 2014 Governor Edmund G. Brown proclaimed a State of Emergency and directed state officials to take all necessary actions to prepare for drought conditions. The State Operation Center (SOC) is activated to implement objectives in support of the Governor's priorities. The lack of winter rain and snowfall has resulted in extremely dry conditions in many parts of the State. Reservoir levels are down significantly from where they should be on average for this time of year. If conditions continue without substantial rainfall, severe impacts to municipal water supplies, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities are likely in store for the State over the next few months. Negative economic impacts will also result.

Another storm moved across Northern California on Monday and Tuesday, with low-pressure conditions creating additional storms through Wednesday. Storms will move east beyond California between Wednesday and Friday as a high pressure, dry system builds over the region.

As our state's rainy season nears its end, much of California has received only about half of normal precipitation for this rainy season. Heavy rain and snow would have to fall throughout California most days in April to reach average annual rain and snowfall levels, which is highly unlikely. Even with such precipitation, California would remain in drought conditions, due to low water supplies in reservoirs from the two previous dry years.

The drought could result in severe impacts to the municipal water supplies, wells, agriculture (plants and livestock) and firefighting capabilities for several months. The SOC continues to be activated to monitor the situation statewide, and support regional and local operational areas.

Situational Summary – Drought 2014 (cont'd)

Information as of 4/2/14

- The Taskforce continues to meet regularly to take actions that conserve water and coordinate state response to the drought.
- The most recent snowpack survey, conducted on February 27, recorded California snowpack at 24% of normal. The next snowpack survey will be conducted April 1. A more recent update using automated devices shows snowpack at 29% of normal as of March 30.
- DWR has announced that water essential for health and safety will be delivered through the state water project in spite of the zero allocation policy. Deliveries will be boosted if storms produce enough rain and snow to increase reservoir storage and the snow pack.
- Cal OES continues to gather drought-related costs from state agencies and local governments.

- 2014-LAW-2478 The 95th CST will provide area monitoring, secure communications, and WMD expertise for the NASCAR Racing Event at Sonoma Raceway June 20-22. They will assist with advanced planning and be pre-positioned prior to the start of the event.

Ongoing Cal OES Missions (Cont.)

- 2014-LAW-2450 Santa Barbara County Sheriff's Department is requesting ten Search and Rescue personnel that are EMS certified to assist with a special event. Resource will be needed from 1100 hours till Midnight on April 8, 2014. San Luis Obispo County Sheriff's Department will be responding with requested resources.
- 2014-LAW-2307 Update: 4/3/14 1740 hours: Mission is complete. Awaiting final closure from USFWS/DFW
- Situation: Per USFWS, The mission has been postponed to Monday, March 10, with a backup date of March 11. They will provide a disposition at the conclusion of the mission. California Department of Fish and Wildlife (DFW) has requested California Air National Guard to assist in the movement of equipment and fuel between Farallon National Wildlife Refuge and the mainland. Approximately 3-4 sorties are expected with an HH-60G helicopter any one day between 2/24-28/2014 or before 3/15/2014. After receiving the official letter of request from USFWS on behalf of the California DFW, Cal OES LDO has changed the target date of the mission to 2/27/14, the county to Marin as Stinson Beach was Identified as the primary staging area and the resource to an HH-60.
- 2014-SOC-2111 Mission is to test the Cascadia Subduction Zone (CSZ) air bridge concept by air transporting 7 passengers from OES and 1 CANG logistics planner on 13 May 2014 from Mather to the State Staging Area (SA) in Redding, to one POD in Del Norte and one POD in Humboldt, to the Redding State SA, and return to Mather. Passengers will discuss actions at the Redding SA and at each OA POD while they are at each location. The air bridge is a critical component to CSZ response and recovery. It is imperative this concept is tested to ensure response teams can be successfully transported into the effected region and the affected Operational Areas' are able to receive aircraft at designated PODs.

UPCOMING EVENTS, TRAINING, EXERCISES

Diablo Canyon Power Plant, Rehearsal / Full Scale Exercise

Diablo Canyon Power Plant in San Luis Obispo will be hosting two full scale Hostile Action Based exercises this Spring. A dress rehearsal exercise will be held on April 16, 2014 and a FEMA evaluated exercise will held on May 21, 2014. This is part of the required biennial demonstration of our ability to protect the public from a radiological incident at the nuclear power plant.

Mission:

We protect lives and property, build capabilities, and support our communities for a resilient California.

We achieve our mission by serving the public through effective collaboration in preparing for, protecting against, responding to, recovering from, and mitigating the impacts of all hazards and threats.
